Papallacta Hot Springs

From the city of Quito towards the east, we will cross the eastern Andean mountain range (paramo) observing wonderful landscapes.

Papallacta Valley is located at the entrance to the Amazon basin of Ecuador, it is an area with a cool climate of over 3,000 meter above the sea level, where a series of thermal waters are located, which originates from the heart of the Antisana volcano.

Water temperatures fluctuate between 36 and 42 Celsius degree. These waters are attributed several healing qualities, on diseases such as arthritis, circulation, rheumatism, digestive testing, among others.

We will have the opportunity to enjoy the thermal pool areas, the SPA (where you can choose a variety of massages and treatments).

We can also enjoy the flora and fauna of the area, walking small trails through the Andean Cloud forest. Lunch included.
